Welcome speech by Dr. Sameena Sindagikar

INAUGURATION

The Department of Studies and Research in Sociology at Gulbarga University, Kalaburagi, in cooperation with KBN University, Kalaburagi, and HKES Smt. C. B Patil Arts and Commerce Degree College Chincholi, organised a one-day workshop on "National Education Policy" (NEP). This one-day training was held on June 30, 2022. The experts will examine the potential, problems, and challenges related to the current educational system as well as the functions of instructors, planners, and students. Attended the NEP session and debate were almost 300 delegates. Participants included educators, researchers, and students from a range of educational institutions. Karnataka is the first state to take the lead in carrying out the NEP's recommendations by establishing a task force for the job.

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Keynote speaker Dr.C.Somashekhar, Professor Department of Sociology, Bangalore University, Bangalore. Whereas the NEP is inclusive as it involves everyone, with specific strategies being developed to reduce dropouts in SCs, STs, and OBCs, and increases the flexibility for the students to choose their interested subject, He added that Internet connectivity is now a basic need, just like water, and that the government is dedicated to addressing any obstacles that may develop in promoting this convergence of education and technology.

RESOURCE PERSON SPEECH

One day workshop resource person Dr. Raghavendra Gudagunti NEP 2020 State Level committee member and Principal GFGC Sulepeth began with a heartfelt appreciation of the workshop's theme, NEP 2020: A Transformative Educational Policy for Aspirational India, and the message it sent. He said that more than 3 lakh views and suggestions from every segment of India's various minorities were incorporated into the policy. The 66 page policy wasn't created until after all of this was considered. NEP as a policy is emerging from an optimistic India, which is in a strong and confident position. Instead of changing the curriculum, NEP wants to motivate every institution to be a change agent and encourage all teachers to do the same. It's time for people to take control because the policy aims to give people more authority.

PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS

Prof Sindhe Jaganath, R Chairman, Gulbarga University ,Kalaburagi stated that we have a larger duty to uphold the NEP policy's goals, vision, and mission, as well as to monitor its proper execution in letter and spirit. NEP is a truly unique policy. India is being observed by the entire world due to a strength that it possesses. Only a top-notch educational system and excellent educational policies can implement developmental activities. Additionally, they compare the planned and current systems. It is quite challenging to take a transfer in the current university system once you enrol. Only if we can fully comprehend NEP 2020 and bring about change at the implementation level will all of this be achievable. Only if we are able to reach the unreached and maintain equity between the wealthy and the poor will the NEP 2020 be understood in a way that results in change at the implementation level. The panellists responded to the participants' questions as the conversation came to a close. The Vote of Thanks was proposed to end the one-day session. The training was successful in getting across the NEP 2020 goals to all of the attendees.

FEEDBACK

All participants given their opinion about NEP advantage which are consolidated in one para. Fantastic planning In India, everything is changing except for the education policy. They have firmly believed that not only should the educational system be changed, but also the material in our textbooks, especially the history. The NEP will give freedom of choice for students subjects is a great idea. It is highly practical to introduce vocational subjects and coding. Less emphasis being placed on language in older people lessens part of the strain on students. India will now have a great opportunity, and the best part is that there are no stream based books or studies; instead, students can choose the courses that interest them.
