ABOUT CONFERENCE

Folklores are defined as stories, customs and beliefs in a culture that are unwritten, passed down orally from generation to generation and its kept active by the people. It is a oral history that is preserved by the people of each and every culture, consisting of traditions and norms from belonging to a specific community or clan. These traditions usually include music, stories, history, legends, and myths. Folktales were often employed to share a common history, to reinforce cultural values or highlight important traditions. When people belonged to a tribe or lived in a small village, by necessity they needed to be able to get along well under a variety of circumstances and minimize conflict. In the modern academic world, folklores and folktales are needed to be studied to understand ancient literature and civilizations. Currently, many forms of folk literature have been transformed into books and manuscripts, which we see in the forms of novels, histories, dramas, stories, lyric poems. Basically narratives of folks reflect the people's tradition, feelings, beliefs, and judgments. Even the fairy and folk tales are associated with women as they are tales of old mothers and grandmothers. Further Feminist fairy tale studies emphasize the identification of women's voice and their controlling images in contrast with the male-dominated influence. Hence, the conference will focus on existing and newly emerging social issues to trace out and preserved with ancient customs and beliefs to their remote origins in order to sustain the mental history of mankind and convey a moral lesson and provide useful information for everyday life lessons in an easy way for the common people to understand. This two day's conference will be platform for academicians, social scientists, researchers, policy makers, social worker, students and folk artists to express their views on bringing the folk literature which highlighted the social issue,related gender in a contemporary Indian society.

OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE

Conference outcome

Each fort has a underground water system which provides water for the palace and other places. There is also a region where the Dandas loved. A great sage Saint Khusha (Baudhanya) wrote many important works.

Socio-political System like Rashtra's concept of corruption, Economic System, the importance of hard work and honesty were the progressive and revolutionary ideas presented to the Society.

All these historical monuments thrown light upon the political, social, trading, cultural and communal harmony of the Yellen. The responsibility on our shoulders is to safeguard or conserve all these historical monuments. These are the things to be carried from generation to generation.

All these above mentioned ideas are proposed by Dr. Abdul Majid sir.

Dr. Abdul Majid Manjyar, Assistant Professor, CUK addressing the delegates, in the opening session of the Virtual conference spoke on the Folklore, Society and Women, while delivering his lecture on the theme of the conference titled Deccan Culture and Heritage.

Hyderabad-Karnataka region is politically, geographically, culturally has a record of rich heritage. This is a region where in the first-Karnata work Kavirajamalga available. This is an area wherein Bahamani Sultans, Chalukyas of Kalyana, Kakathuris and Rashtrakutas ruled. This area was famous during the rule of Vikramaditya VI and Amoghavarsha Nagapattinam. This is a place where the great writer of Natakshara Samhita Vijnyaneshwara was born. The Bahamani Sultans constructed many important historical monuments like forts, palaces, mosques, tombs etc at Bidar, Kalaburagi and Bijapur. Many famous monuments are found in Shatapur and Shatpur. In almost-all the houses wells are found. One can see tanks, canals and wells in this area. The same water used for drinking and Irrigation purpose. All these are the evidences for the rich cultural heritage of Deccan. Bijapur fort which is constructed on the banks of Bhima River has a historical importance.
